

Make Friends

Once upon a time there lived a Eagle who had no friends...

One day he met with a she Eagle who was very beautiful...

Will you
marry me ?

I see that
you have no friends ...
I will marry you provided you make friendship with some one...

Deeply falling in love with the her he flew away to make friends...

On his way he met with tortoise, tiger and another eagle who got ready to become his friends..

I made three friends...
Will you marry me now ?

yes,
I agree to marry you ...

So they got married...

After a while they had two children...

One day two hunters spent the night under the same tree where eagle had their nest. They were keeping themselves warm by lighting a bonfire...

Because of the smoke generated from the bon fire the childrens of the eagle were suffocated...

Do something...

Wait here
I will take help of my friends...

Eagle went to his another Eagle friend and explained him about the problem...

The eagle friend made himself wet and flew over the fire and tried to extinguish the fire by flapping his wing...by which the fire got extinguished

The hunter got up to light the fire again and by doing so he saw the nest of the eagle on the tree and made an idea to make money from selling those eagles...

The hunter started to climb the tree...

Look the hunter is climbing our tree our children are in danger...

Immediately the eagle went to see his tortoise friend and explained him everything ...

The tortoise passed in front of him so that the hunter can see him ...

O look there
is a huge tortoise
We can make more money by selling that tortoise lets catch him.

They roped him and tried to catch him but the tortoise was very powerful and he dragged them in the water...

When the hunter realised that they can't swim any more they released the tortoise to save their life...

Just at that time the eagle called out his tiger friend to help him...

The tiger came to attack the hunter ...

O my God !!
Tiger!
Save your life,
run...

The eagle thanked his friends for saving his family and helping him to come out from the big danger...

The eagle realised the importance of friendship and understood the reason why the she eagle was asking to make some friends in the beginning ...

Moral: This material world is full of danger at every step. Make friends with devotees. They are our best protection from the onslaught of this material world.
